Director of Philippine Navy Has Suffered from Illness.

Heiser, Commissioner of Public Health in the Philippine Islands during the Taft Administration, and later engaged in studies of disease and sanitation.

SHERIFF KINKEAD WILL SHOW MERCY UNDER AGREEMENT

Today is Kinkead Day in the Baltimore Police Court. The hasty Sheriff of Baltimore County, who has been the strenuous life since he broke the Baltimore strike, monopolized the court calendar. When he wasn't appearing as a complainant, and between times he faced Recorder Cain to recommend mercy for those he had arrested.

As a climax the Sheriff was finally called to the bar as a prisoner himself. Timothy Condon, a saloon porter, charged him with assault, and after a host of witnesses had been heard Recorder Cain directed that Kinkead be held in jail for the action of the Grand Jury. Alexander Simpson, a political opponent, but personal friend of the Sheriff, put up the bond for him.

"I punched Condon, and I would do it again," Kinkead said when he took the stand in his defense. "I arrested him on Friday morning for being too near the police. He got out and later in the day went back to the same place. I ordered him to move and he called me names as he went and I did not hit him, though, until he started to kick me when I was in arrest."

The court room was filled with the Sheriff's friends and enemies when he entered. He stopped in the middle of the room as he came in and surveyed the crowd. His eye looked on John Joseph Bailey, the Baltimore who has the shrewdly set foot on his right eye when he started to cause trouble among the Baltimore strikers.

"Here, Bailey," the Sheriff called and Joseph came quickly forward.
Then the Sheriff told him he was arrested for assault, and when he was arrested he said he would recommend that he be discharged.

Something of a sensation ensued among the several saloon keepers in the court room when they learned that the Sheriff who had arrested them for various violations during the strike was going to ask that all first offenders be discharged. Second offenders, they learned, were to be fined $50, and third offenders, if the Sheriff has his way, will pay a fine of $100 and lose their licenses.

The Sheriff did not deny that he had come to an agreement with the interested saloon-keepers that he would agree not to open on Sundays until noon and to close at 11 P. M. The law says they can't open on Sunday at all, but here is Sheriff Kinkead's view of that:

"It is by far the lesser of two evils.
It will reduce liquor sales 50 per cent, and give us 50 per cent. observance of the law, which is more than we get now."
